

and global partners.

GIVES to the work of Global Mission

This means giving to Our Church's Wider Mission and One Great Hour of Sharing. This can mean sponsoring a child through the child sponsorship program, and encouraging donations to Wider Church Ministries and Global Ministries.

SENDS members into the world to share the good news

One part of being a global mission church that can change the way church members travel and look at the world is to encourage them to visit global missionaries and partners when they travel overseas. Other wonderful opportunities include sending a group on a People to People Pilgrimage or even encouraging members to become a volunteer missionary and do work with our global partners.

GROWS in sharing the stories of God's mission.

This can mean designating a member of your congregation to participate in a Ministries and Mission Interpretation training, organizing a joint global mission event with another church to learn about mission together, and participating in global mission at the conference level. This also means sharing the things your congregation is doing with the Global Ministries staff! Your vital congregation can help us with new ideas for participation in the work of global mission.

Global Mission Congregations are encouraged to think of other ways to live out these 7 signs of a global mission church!

Steps to get started as a Global Mission Church

The first step is to gather a team to coordinate the global mission church process. Learn about the history of global ministries and the current work of global ministries. Evaluate your current mission involvement and what you might be able to start doing. Then, create and commit to a plan for mission involvement including continuing what you've been doing and starting new actions in the next 3 years. Set measurable objectives with dates for completion and names of who will carry actions out. After three years, it's time to create another plan!

Please visit the Global Ministries website for more information and resources regarding being a global mission church, and to learn more about what Global Ministries is doing to create a better world for everyone.

A Vital Church is a Global Mission Church

<http://www.ucc.org/vitality/global-mission/>

Being a Global Mission Church challenges church members to stretch toward a new level of interest in, and commitment to, God's world. A vital church is a church that is engaged with God's world and with the work of making it better- a Global Mission Church.

The Signs of a Global Mission Church:

A Global Mission Church:

PRAYS for Global Mission partners and missionaries, as well as for the World.

Being a global mission church can transform the prayer life of your congregation. There are many ways to begin to pray for Global Mission partners and missionaries. You can distribute the Global Ministries mission story at your church and lift up global communities in worship. It can revitalize your worship services in other ways, as well. Try incorporating international traditions and other languages in your services every so often.

EDUCATES all members about global issues

Being a global mission church enriches the lives of church members and expands their horizons. Organize a global mission class which might use the Connecting Threads videos, or an event with a speaker. Emphasize global mission in Sunday School one day a year. In this way the church can raise awareness among its members and open their minds.

SEEKS JUSTICE for the "least of these" in the international community

Seeking justice is an important part of being a global mission church that can do a lot to energize church members. Organize an Advocacy Committee, send people to Ecumenical Advocacy Days each year, and get involved in specific justice issues that interest the congregation.

RECEIVES the gifts of the global church

This is another way of educating members about the work of global mission, and can mean hosting Ministries and Mission Interpreters to speak in your congregation, hosting missionary visits, and developing relationships with missionaries

Welcome to the church family! We're glad you are here as we open ourselves to God's love even as we strive to be Christ's hands and heart in our world today. You are warmly invited to all church activities. Please inquire with the Pastor, Worship Assistant, Deacon or Greeter if you have questions.

Martin Luther King, Jr. died at the hands of an assassin on April 4, 1968, a few months short of his fortieth birthday. Human history has forever been changed by the movement he headed. Our current level of sensitivity to human rights issues and inclusiveness can be traced to the strides gained by the Civil Rights Movements of the 1950's and 1960's. Martin Luther King, Jr., was a rare human being who sacrificed his life for a vision of equality for every person — not just African Americans. On November 2, 1983, both the Senate and the House of Representatives agreed that we should never forget Dr. King's contributions to the world: the third Monday in January was declared a national holiday.

The following online resources may assist you in helping you and those around you understand more fully who the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., was and how he influenced our lives together.

This hymn text by John Middleton is a way of bridging personal and corporate experiences of belovedness. The fifth stanza is an alternate for special occasions, such as Martin Luther King's birthday.

ourselves divided by strife and factions, the sin of disunity spreading among your people the world over like an unchecked disease. We are unable to measure up to our standards, much less to yours. Forgive us, Lord.

Cleanse us and make us whole. Renew our minds and motives so that we might be your people, acceptable in your sight.

We seek your guidance, Lord.

The tensions and differences of race, traditions, culture, creed, and language consume us. Come among us, O God, and free us to live creatively, worship openly, and love unconditionally.

Forgive our arrogance, Lord.

Help us to remember that to bear the good news to others means to first live the good news among ourselves. We pray this in the name of the One who shows us how to be a diverse people united, even Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

*Peace Candle Lighting & Peace Passing!

"With the great challenges before us, we know that moving mountains takes more than just one day of service. We must remember the words of Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.:

'On the one hand, we are called to play the Good Samaritan on life's roadside, but that will be only an initial act. One day we must come to see that the whole Jericho Road must be transformed so that men and women will not be constantly beaten and robbed as they make their journey on life's highway.'

The call to transform our personal and family lives, build up our own communities, and change this country on the really big issues is before each of us now."

A Time of Prayer with Meditative Litany

"All of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s work, from the very beginning of the Civil Rights Movement, was oriented toward the creation of a community characterized by love and justice, a society completely integrated among different races, a vision he called "the Beloved Community." Legislated desegregation was just the beginning; although laws could correct injustices of housing, education and employment, such legislation could not effect the change of hearts and minds which would foster true community. A wholehearted integration of society was King's hope and the hope of the movement he led.

The work for this whole-hearted integration in both society and church includes today not only people excluded by race, but also those excluded by gender, disabilities, and sexual orientation.

From my position, vocationally as Minister for Racial Justice and personally along the varied intersections and continuum of systemic and personal oppression, I pray for deliverance from the forces which foster the societal evils and spiritual deaths of segregation in all its contemporary guises. To that end, the following litany has been inspired by Psalm 86 and Dr. King's vision of the Beloved Community."

Minister for Racial Justice, Justice and Witness Ministries in our United Church of Christ.

Today as we prepare to inaugurate the first President of our nation with African American heritage, we pledge ourselves to King's Dream with purpose and determination to make this Beloved Community our reality.

PEOPLE: Incline your ear, O God, and answer us, for we are poor, hungry, naked, homeless and sick. Preserve our lives, for we are devoted to you; save your servants who trust in you.
ONE: Dr. King's work reminds us:
LEFT: church and state must work together for the common good;
RIGHT: laws must establish justice for all,

 Thy Kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven.

 but deliver us from evil.
 For thine is the Kingdom,

"LEADERSHIP: What King Revealed And Is Revealing Still"

Leadership is an essential part of any organization or movement. Of course, there are a number of leadership models from which to choose. How do we see our role as church leaders? How do we use the authority given us? Who are we striving to serve? The writings, reflections and life of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. bear witness to the essential character of leadership.
